Coming to Jaén (Spain)

Coming to Jaén (Spain)

World Capital of Olive Culture, Iberian Culture Legacy, Renaissance Heritage Site, and Natural Spaces and Parks

Jaén (pop. over 116,000), a young, open city, located in southern Spain and in the heart of Andalusia. Jaén is also a province with a unique natural, historical, artistic and cultural heritage; meeting point for people and cultures that have marked and shaped the character of its people, who have, however, always kept their own particular Andalusian identity.

A land of transition and frontier, Jaén has been cherished by history. It was one of the most important Iberian settlements of the Peninsula and played a remarkable role in the Andalusian era, firmly establishing its influence during the Renaissance and the Enlightenment. Its valuable historical heritage includes the cathedral, by Andrés de Vandelvira, an Andalusian renaissance treasure, as well as the Arab Baths and Santa Catalina Castle. Living examples of those centuries are also Úbeda and Baeza, two major Renaissance towns, both declared World Heritage Sites by the UNESCO, and located only a few kilometres away from Jaén. Linares is the second most populous city in the province of Jaén. Its mining past and its archaeological legacy have marked the cosmopolitan character of this remarkable city, which has always been opened to trade.

Jaén has the largest area of the protected natural sites of Spain (304,175 hectares), including four Parks: Parque Natural Sierra de Andújar, Sierra Mágina, Despeñaperros and Parque Natural de Sierra de Cazorla, Segura y las Villas. The latter is considered to be the most significant protected natural reserve in Spain and the second largest in Europe, classified as a Biosphere Reserve. Furthermore, there are three natural places, two nature reserves, natural monuments and two PeriUrban Parks.

The world-famous extra virgin olive oil is made in Jaén. Beyond its geographical borders, oil is one of the mainstays of the Mediterranean diet, Intangible Cultural Heritage of Humanity, and, today, one of the most precious foods in the kitchens of the world.

Hospitable at any time of the year, quiet and well communicated at the same time, full of life and remembrance, the towns composing the province of Jaén offer the visitor a mild winter and hot summer weather, an unexpected personality and an endless catalogue of works of art. Its approach means to get into a network of churches, palaces, large fortified towers, fountains, and many more. In addition, a tremendously active and exciting student and night life (so typical of Andalusia) combine a great choice of modern discos and pubs with traditional Andalusian and Spanish fiestas. The liveliest examples of popular fun include the Semana Santa (the Holy Week in April), the Feria (the Jiennense Fair in October and June), and the Carnaval (the Carnival in February).

Every year, many important cultural and sport events take place in the province. One of the most significant ones is the Chess Competition of Linares, which is the most prestigious of its kind among the Western countries. Other notable events are the Summer Courses at the University of Baeza, the International Piano Competition of Jaén, the Autumn Festival (one of the biggest in Spain, including concerts of every type of music, theatre, exhibitions, etc.) and the Medieval Week. A major sport event is the Jaén Mile race, a competition opened to everyone and which brings many Olympic and world champions to Jaén. Many other minor cultural and sports events contribute to making the stay in Jaén exciting and unforgettable.

How to Get to Jaén

Jaén can be reached using the conventional means of transport, i.e., by train and by car or coach. The last one is a very interesting way of knowing Jaén and the areas around it due to the excellent road network connecting our city with most of the other important Andalusian and Spanish cities, with a direct highway to Madrid.

There are also four airports, which are rather close to the capital of the province (Granada, Málaga, Seville and Córdoba). This unique situation makes the arrival in Jaén quite an easy task, by using a combination of aerial and ground-based means of transportation.

About the University of Jaén

About the University of Jaén

Wide range of programmes and degrees, human capital, knowledge generation and international dimension

The origins of the University of Jaén (UJA) date back to the establishment of the University of Baeza in the 16th century. More recently, in 1993 the University of Jaén started its journey as an autonomous institution. Since then, the university has been able to respond to the demands of the academic community and the entire society.

The institution has made a firm commitment to innovation and quality, both in the delivery of its degrees and in advancing its infrastructure, resulting in increased academic teaching and research. Moreover, and in accordance with the University's strategic plan for 2014-2020, it is committed to embedding an international dimension across all of our activities.

The academic offer, designed as an appropriate answer to the society's employment and professional needs, consists of more than 80 degrees, some of them taught online, in the areas of Humanities and Education, Experimental Sciences, Health Sciences, Social Sciences, Law, Social Work and Engineering. Such offer is structured in undergraduate and postgraduate studies (Master's and PhD Programmes) where multi-languages courses are designed in all the above areas for international students. Additionally, the University of Jaén offers 10 International Degrees in cooperation with different European Universities in Business, Administration, Management and Engineering.

The University participates in international educational programmes, such as ERASMUS+, Atlantis Project, PIMA, Leonardo da Vinci and Outstanding Sport Programmes. Thanks to this kind of activity it is possible for the students of our university to develop part of their studies or conduct research abroad. It also allows international students to come and study at the University of Jaén.

The UJA human capital is one of the strongest pillars of the institution. Over 900 professionals are part of the teaching and research staff (PDI) and over 400 are devoted to administration and services, forming a cohesive team that covers the needs of 14,000 students enrolled in various undergraduate and postgraduate programmes at the University of Jaén.

With around a hundred research groups working at the moment, the University of Jaén offers technical services with the most advanced technology to its researchers. Leading the provincial scientific knowledge generation, our university plays an essential part in all Innovation Technology Centres of its surroundings and in the most important knowledge transfer events. Research laboratories are equipped with the most modern facilities for students to develop their academic practices with the latest technology.

In a friendly learning atmosphere for Spanish and international students alike, you will enjoy a unique experience studying at our University.

National / International Rankings

• The University of Jaén is among the top 1,000 universities in the world, according to The Center for World University Rankings (CWUR) 2015. It is also well-positioned in the Shanghai Academic Ranking of World Universities (ARWU), where it is positioned at the top 100 universities within the Computer Sciences area, and 2nd among Spanish Universities in this ranking.

• Our institution is among the first 10 Spanish Universities in receiving foreign students, according to the report "La Universidad Española en cifras". It has been very positively evaluated by foreign students. In fact, based on thousands of reviews and opinions from international students in Europe, Study Portals has awarded the University of Jaén the "Certificate for Very Good International Student Satisfaction 2014".

• According to data from the Spanish Education, Culture and Sport Ministry, the University of Jaén is in the 11th position, among all Spanish Universities, in the ranking of degrees with a higher employment rate.

The University of Jaén also offers advanced postgraduate education, with a specialized and multidisciplinary character, to facilitate graduates academic training as future professionals. More information on these courses can be found at: <http://estudios.ujaen.es/formacionpermanente/listacursososexperto?vid=8>

Language of Instruction

In general, the language of instruction is Spanish. However, there is a wide offer of courses in English/French or with support in English/French, where foreign students can communicate with their professors and lecturers in English/French and exams are held in English/French, while a variety of seminars are also conducted in English/French. The list of these courses is available at the website of the Office of the Vice-President for Internationalization.

Spanish Language Preparatory Courses

At the beginning of each semester, the University of Jaén organizes extensive and intensive Spanish courses in the Centre for Higher Studies in Modern Languages.

The target students of this programme are international students intending to spend the first and/or second semester at the University of Jaén under an exchange agreement between their institution and the UJA. These courses are free for International Mobility students and, upon successful completion of the courses, the students will be awarded a Certificate of Attendance and granted 6 ECTS credits for each completed course.

Academic Calendar

The academic year is divided into two semesters and three examination periods:

First semester: from the beginning of September to the end of December

First examination period: from the beginning to the end of January

Second semester: from the end of January to mid-May

Second examination period: from mid to the end of May

Third examination period: from mid-June to the beginning of July

Moreover, there is a two-week Christmas break from December 23rd to January 6th, and a week Easter break in March/April.

Teaching System and Evaluation Methods

Classes at UJA follow the guidelines of the new European Higher Education Area (EHEA). Given the requirements of the EHEA, the University of Jaén has implemented new tasks within the Plan for Teaching Innovation and Teacher Education, such as the promotion of multilingualism, creating teaching materials using ICT, training of trainers, dissemination actions aimed at high school counsellors and professionals and call for innovative teaching mobility, among others.

Students are assessed through final examinations in January, in the case of one-semester courses; or in May, in the case of courses that run throughout the academic year (or one semester courses belonging to the second semester). Students who do not pass examinations are able to re-sit them in June/July. In some cases, professors may choose to set various evaluative activities (exams, projects, etc.) throughout the year which, if successfully completed, can replace the final examination.

Grading System

The Spanish marking scale is numerical from 0 to 10, being 10 the maximum mark and 0 the minimum one. The University of Jaén uses the following scale:

UJA Denomination	UJA Conversion to numerical scale (1-10)	UJA Conversion to numerical scale for transcript average grade (1-4)	Standard Conversion
Matrícula de honor	Academic merit award	4	A = Excellent/Superior
Sobresaliente	9 - 10	3 - 3.99	B = Good
Notable	7 - 8.9	2 - 2.99	C = Satisfactory
Aprobado	5 - 6.9	1 - 1.99	D = Minimum pass grade
Suspense	0 - 4.9	0 - 0.99	F = Failing

LINARES CAMPUS

- Engineering School

The University of Jaén is a modern university adapted to our students and their needs. It boasts top-notch facilities and modern equipment. In 2006, UJA was awarded the I Andalusian Award for Best Practices in Disability Care.

The Jaén Campus, called Las Lagunillas, is the main campus and it is located in the north-east of the city of Jaén. It houses a great Aula Magna, classroom and laboratory buildings, computer rooms, the main library building with ample study and reading rooms, two cafeterias, a student residence, a sports centre, a travel agency, a bookshop, a bank branch, etc. Its beautiful gardens and lawns are home to many different tree species and birds. The university is connected to the city by a set of bus lines. These frequent connections allow the student to commute conveniently between different points of the city and the University.

In Linares Campus, a new Scientific-Technological Campus opens its doors during the academic year 2015/2016. This campus is located in the south-west of the city and houses two laboratory buildings, classrooms and computer rooms, a building for the main services (Aula Magna, library, lecture hall, cafeteria, etc.), and a sports centre.

University Library

In the University Library there are more than 350,000 volumes and approximately 1,800 current journals, and more than 30,000 electronic journals. The library offers around 2,300 personal study stations and 16 reading rooms. In addition, 149 free access computers are available providing access to the Internet.

Internet Access

Computer rooms with free access to the Internet are available for Spanish and International Students. Provided that you bring your own notebook, wireless LAN can be used in all the areas of both campuses. Moreover, there are computers with access to Internet located in the library and the Student House.

Language Centre

The UJA Advanced Centre of Modern Languages offers Spanish and international students a wide variety of courses, exams and linguistic activities. The offer includes English, French, German, Italian, and Chinese. Spanish Courses are also organized for speakers of other languages.

All these courses are carried out by experts in Modern Languages teaching at the University of Jaén.

Cultural and Sports Activities at the University

We would like to emphasize the role of the University of Jaén as a key element for sport and cultural expansion.

The Office for Cultural Activities promotes, coordinates, develops and sponsors the cultural and artistic activities considered of interest for the university community, with a diverse cultural offer which includes cycles of lectures, exhibitions, music concerts, contests, theatre plays and cinema, among other activities.

Moreover, a wide range of sport activities are aimed to facilitate the students' full development, not only in the educative and intellectual aspect, but also in the physical aspect, in order to provide them with a complete education. These activities include collective and individual sport activities combined with a set of outdoor activities in nature, training courses or just leisure activities. Besides, the University of Jaén is involved in different competitions, not only at an internal level, but also at regional and national levels.

Students can enjoy a great number of sports facilities belonging to the institution: sport halls, football-rugby pitch, seven-a-side football pitches, squash courts, paddle courts, and climbing wall. The university has also agreements with other private sport facilities that permit the students to have access to any type of sport.

International Relations Office

International Relations Office

The International Relations Office is in charge of the management of both students and staff mobility programmes and projects linked to international relations and the diverse relations of the University with foreign countries.

The International Relations Office provides support for more than 1,000 incoming and outgoing students every year. We offer direct or indirect support for student applications, accommodation (through our buddy system), registration, etc. The University of Jaén currently has more than 500 partner institutions in 40 countries in Europe, the Americas, Asia and Oceania. One of the major objectives of this unit is to provide a sound service to our international partners, particularly at the beginning of their stay as exchange or degree-seeking students.

The International Relations Office is in charge of the management of all the programmes related to the Erasmus+ framework and is also in charge to manage all the exchange and cooperation agreements with institutions in Europe and in other continents. In the last few years, the number of international students has grown remarkably; a fact that is transforming our university into an international thriving spot. At the same time, the university is connected to the traditional and ancient flavours of an Andalusian mid-size city.

International students will enjoy a unique experience at our University, where apart from the wide academic offer they can access a great variety of courses in Spanish language and culture at their disposal, depending on their needs.

At the International Relations Office we want to be your link to the world.
