E. General information*1. Academic information

	University of Amsterdam
Number of study weeks/academic year	42 weeks (40 weeks courses, 2 weeks holidays). A semester consists of 3 periods (8-8-4 weeks). Semester 1 Period 1: September-October Period 2: November-December Period 3: January Semester 2 Period 4: February-March Period 5: April-May Period 6: June Courses last for one, two or three periods. The length of a course is indicated in the course catalogue. Courses do not run for the complete academic year. When selecting courses please note that you should divide your study load equally. For example if you are selecting a standard study load of 30 EC per semester, you should select 12 EC in period 1, 12 EC in period 2 and 6 EC in period 3, as period 3 is the shortest period.
Credit system	The University of Amsterdam uses the European Credit System (ECTS, EC's). The standard workload for full-time students is 60 EC per academic year (1680 hours of study) or 30 EC per semester (840 hours of study).
Workload	The credit system is based on student workload. Student workload does not only consist of lectures and seminars, but also of individual study. The workload is expressed in credit points based on the ECTS. 1 EC represents 28 hours of full-time study, including lecture attendance, hours spent on individual study and preparation of assignments.
Language	Some bachelor courses are taught in English. For more information go to: www.uva.nl/exchange-science All master courses are taught in English.
Duration of programmes	A bachelor's programme (Bachelor of Science) has a duration of three years (180 EC). A master's programme (Master of Science) has a duration of either one year (60 EC, regular master) or two years in case of a (120 EC, research master).
Type of education	There are different types of education. Lectures are frequently used as well as seminars and self-study. In seminars an active participation is expected. Students are expected to attend all classes. First course of the semester is obligatory. Canvas, our digital learning environment, is used to prepare for classes, for discussions and exams.
Assessment	Various types of exams are practiced: written exams, essays, class room presentation and assignments.

Academic climate	The UvA places a strong emphasis on independent and critical thinking. Students are expected to study independently. There is a lot of self-study required. Students find the academic climate challenging but rewarding. Exams and assessment are not only scheduled at the end of a course but students can also find themselves doing weekly assignments such as small essays or reports and most courses have mid-term as well as final exams. It is not common for teachers to be more lenient or easy on the exchange students. Exchange students are expected to fully participate in courses, there are no auditor-only options.
Courses	Courses can be found in the course catalogue: www.coursecatalogue.uva.nl There is a limited amount of courses in English with a limited amount of places available for exchange students. Therefore it is very important for students to keep back-up courses in mind and be flexible about the course choices.
Application procedure	Prospective Erasmus exchange students fill out the online web form before the set deadline. For more information go to www.uva.nl/exchange-science. Prospective Global Exchange Programme students need to apply through the Global Exchange Programme procedure.
