THE COUNCIL OF THE EUROPEAN UNION AND THE REPRESENTATIVES OF THE GOVERNMENTS OF THE MEMBER STATES, MEETING WITHIN THE COUNCIL, CONSIDERING THAT:

1. The growing globalisation of trade and lengthening of the period of active employment are increasingly requiring individuals to adapt their skills, in order to remain ahead of foreseeable or necessary changes and to safeguard their career paths.
2. The enlargement of the European Union has increased the potential for mobility in education and training, as well as in the labour market, thereby creating the need to prepare Union citizens to develop their learning and professional pathways in a broader geographical context.

PRIORITY AREA 1: ENCOURAGE THE LIFELONG ACQUISITION OF CAREER MANAGEMENT SKILLS

Career management skills play a decisive role in empowering people to become involved in shaping their learning, training and integration pathways and their careers. Such skills, which should be maintained throughout life, are based on key competences, in particular 'learning to learn', social and civic competences — including intercultural competences — and a sense of initiative and entrepreneurship. Career management skills include the following, particularly during periods of transition:

- learning about the economic environment, businesses and occupations,
- being able to evaluate oneself, knowing oneself and being able to describe the competences one has acquired in formal, informal and non-formal education settings,
- understanding education, training and qualifications systems.

1 The Social and Sociological Relevance of University Guidance as a Learning Process: from Metacognitive Skills to Social Inclusion.

This study is meant to highlight how important it is to give University guidance an “educational” and “didactic” dimension, and to conceive it as a proper learning process and experience, meant to effectively help students in both choosing the right study course after school, and dealing with the difficult transition from university to employment. It is one of the most significant transitions for both the individual and society, as it implies a change in the subject’s social role, which is defined by both his\her own perception and the others’ one: Lewin defined such transitions as “social locomotions”, so as to underline their social relevance (1947). Assuming guidance as a proper part of the learning process, rather than as an extra curricular “tool” or “service”, gives it an effectiveness otherwise unreachable: only through actual learning, in fact, the metacognitive skills – needed for improving self-regulation, autonomy, self-belief and the ability to guide the self towards his own personal, professional, and social development – can be improved.

2 The Case of Italian Universities: Current Methodological and Practical Approaches to Guidance.

The case of Italian Universities is emblematic in terms of how the currently dominant approach to guidance is inadequate and incomplete, hence of how the tertiary education system and the university\work transition could benefit from a shift of paradigm in guidance policies. In fact, and despite the existence of different guidelines that suggest the didactic and educational dimension of guidance should be implemented, University guidance is actually merely conceived in psycho-technical or diagnostic terms; moreover, the tertiary education system suffers from an intrinsic inefficiency due to both labour market pathologies and some inconsistencies in the university offer and the labour market demand for skills, revealed by the phenomena of over qualification (...) and graduates' unemployment (...), and Neets (...). The 2013 Agreement and the National Guidelines for lifelong Guidance (2014) gave universities and educational institutions a central role in creating integrated guidance systems at a local level. They also provided with operational lines to develop good practices: a) guidance didactics: to promote the development of a proactive behaviour in the individual (educational aspect); b) career Information: to know and interpret the world of work; c) accompaniment: to monitor and assist the individual during the transition or the process of choice; ...

2. The Case of Italian Universities: Current Methodological and Practical Approaches to Guidance.

...The threefold idea of guidance that reproduces the three main stages of students' university career (entry, progress and exit), though, finds confirmation in the reality of Italian university. Before enrolling, students are given the opportunity to get in contact with Universities through informative material, both digital and non-digital, so they gather information through the web, and are also invited to take part to meetings and open-days – both at school and at allowing more awareness in choice. University provides them with information and advice about the educational and curricular offer, the professional opportunities related to the study course, and the extra-curricular services available for the students' community.

Progress guidance provided by Italian universities mainly consists of tutoring activities, aimed at bridging the distance between actual entry knowledge and the standards required by the study course, and at facilitating and enhancing courses' attendance, with the ultimate goal of reducing dispersion and failure.

3. Exit or Career Guidance and Placement Offices towards Novelties of Latest Reform.

As far as exit or career guidance is specifically concerned, support to the University\employment transition can be provided throughout experts' advice on how to design professional projects, where to carry out internship and where to search for and actual job, considering both the job market and the skills' match. It is pretty frequent that students are supported with such activities even after graduation, being accompanied as recent graduates and newcomers in finding an appropriate job, throughout the so-called placement service carried out by placement offices within universities. In fact, the Treu law (1997) and the labour reform (the Biagi Law introduced in Italy in 2003) introduced substantial changes within Universities policies: since then, and along with other public and private participants, universities' placement offices started to mediate labour supply and demand. This turn can be considered as part of a broader processes of change: on the one hand, the transition from a public welfare system to a welfare society, that is, to a society that takes care of its citizens, gives people a wider range of choices and makes service providers increase, in the spirit of subsidiarity; on the other hand, the belief that a continuous dialogue between universities and the economic system can be a valuable assets; these cultural aspects consistently influenced universities' policies about guidance.
