Summer Schools

Elevate your academic career.

The University of Groningen is consistently ranked among the top 100 universities in the world and has a long tradition of education, innovation and research. We have a variety of intensive, week-long summer school programmes from all academic disciplines focusing on relevant topics in the respective fields.

Participating in a summer school entails building upon your knowledge, working on relevant (soft) skills, getting inspired for your research, and expanding your network by meeting leading experts and peers from around the world. We welcome students of various levels of education and professionals from diverse fields to explore our summer school overview and join us in Groningen in 2026!
